CHARLES S. JUDD, Honolulu, T. H., August 8, 1911.

Once upon a time, a man who was too economical to take a paper, sent his little boy to borrow the copy taken by his neighbors. In his haste, the boy ran over a four dollar stand of bees, and in ten minutes looked like a watery summer squash.

His cries reached his father, who ran to his assistance, and, failing to see a barb-wire fence, ran into it, breaking it down, cutting a handful of flesh from his anatomy and ruining a five-dollar pair of pants.

The old cow took advantage of the gap in the fence, got into the comfield and killed herself eating green corn. Hearing the racket, his wife ran, upsetting a four-gallon churn full of rich cream into a basket of kittens, drowning the whole "flock." In her hurry the dropped a seven-dollar set of teeth. The baby, left alone, crawled through the spilled milk into the parlor and ruined a twenty-dollar carpet. During the excitement the oldest daughter van away with the hired man, the calves got out and the dog broke up eleven sitting hens.
